

JOHN FORD DIES IN VACANT HOUSE

Detroit, September 25.—(AP)—A victim of heart failure that had troubled him for weeks, John Ford, wealthy real estate operator and brother of Henry Ford, died alone in an unoccupied cottage in Fordson tonight. The body, lying on a bed left in the cottage by its last tenant, was found shortly before 8 o'clock this morning by Fordson police and Robert W. Ford, a son, who began search when Ford failed to return to his home from a meeting of the Fordson city council, of which he was president.

The cottage, recently purchased by Ford, is but a few squares from his home, and it is believed that he went to the place to inspect it when he was stricken.

Pending formality of a post-mortem examination, the body was held today in an undertaking establishment in Dearborn. It later will be removed to the Ford home, where funeral services are to be held Friday, with burial in Grand Lawn cemetery, not far from the spot where William and Mary Ligeot Ford settled when they came to the United States from Ireland, and where Henry and William Ford were born.

Charles T. Earl, deputy coroner, who inspected the body, and Ford's physician, Dr. A. L. Sherwood, joined in the opinion that death was due solely to heart disease. There were no marks of violence on the body.

Ford was last seen when he left the council meeting at 9 o'clock. Discovery of his automobile near the house led searchers to the cottage, the door of which was unlocked.

Ford had been prominently identified with state and civic affairs. As a partner in a local real estate firm and an officer of two banks, he became wealthy. Until about 10 years ago he was a dairy farmer with a 40-acre farm adjoining the family home, and was interested in farmers' problems. He was a member of the state fair board.

In addition to his brothers, Henry and William Ford, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Ruddiman, he is survived by his widow and three children.

"Alabama day" will be one of the big features of the fair, which opens Tuesday, October 4.

Colorful Parade Pictures 100 Years of Progress in Coweta County

A delegation of several hundred visitors, and ten uniformed traffic officers, headed by Lieutenant Bob Waggoner. The official family of Atlanta was represented by W. Gray Dobbs, mayor pro-tem, and J. Henson Tatum, secretary to the mayor.

Famous Band Present.

Joe P. Billups, general passenger agent of the Atlanta & West Point railroad, represented both Montgomery and Atlanta and brought for the occasion the famous West Point band of Montgomery, Ala., directed by Billy Hrab with Miss Margaret Paul, in, noted woman drum major. Other West Point officials on the ground were Colonel Sam Wilkes, Frank Walsh, F. L. Nelson, John B. Patterson and E. G. Gross.

Visitors began to arrive early for the celebration and by noon the streets around the square at Newnan contained a seething horde of humanity numbering anywhere from 10,000 to 12,000. The monster parade, with 70 floats, every one provided by a Coweta county enterprise, moved through the streets at 2 o'clock. The parade was more than a mile long and more than $25,000 was spent on the floats.

Leading citizens of Newnan greeted visitors and formed informal reception committees. Tom J. Fisher, one of Newnan's "wheelhorses," established informal headquarters for visiting delegations in his office. Others who greeted visitors were T. S. Parrott, who also played the part of "Father Time" in the pageant; E. C. Cole, James Weddington, J. T. Carpenter, B. M. Blackburn, D. S. Cuttino, Walter Hopkins, of Atlanta, formerly of Newnan; W. B. Barr, James Glendrum, Jack Powell and E. C. Kirsey.

Miss Susan Hunter Cole, beautiful Newnan girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cole, played the role of "queen of the centennial," took the leading part in the pageant and rode in a beautiful float in the parade accompanied by her maids of honor. The maids were selected from various towns of the county and were as follows: Miss Mary Glover, Miss Clara Cole, Miss Susan Hill, Miss Martha North, Miss Elizabeth Banks, Miss Frances Coggins, Mrs. W. E. Row and Miss Elizabeth McDonald. Cliff Glover, Jr., and Nat Glover served as pages; Jimmy Weddington as cushion bearer and Miss Virginia Wilkinson as jester.

Mrs. J. L. Weddington, Jr., served as general chairman of the historical parade. Mrs. J. T. Fisher headed the entertainment committee, while the queen's committee consisted of Miss Mary Freeman, chairman; Mrs. Sam Banks, Mrs. J. S. Gibson and Mrs. Cliff Glover.

The historical parade was a revelation to the visitors. Much time and expense was devoted to the completion of each float and with more than 70 floats the parade was an imposing and colorful spectacle. Bright colors predominated and for more than a mile the parade presented a scene of kaleidoscopic beauty.

Atlantians in Parade.

Bands of the West Point railway, Georgia Military academy and Fort McPherson, Atlanta, furnished music for the parade, while the band of the Miller Brothers show played a special concert. The parade was headed by a bugle corps, followed by 10 members of the mounted police of Atlanta, all former Newnan county men. An Indian family, typifying the first days of Coweta county, followed and immediately behind came a group representing the pioneers or first settlers of Coweta county. The Coweta county float, placed in the parade by officials of the county, was next in line. Following in the order named were the following floats: Daughters of the American Revolution, church float, United States postoffice, group of negro singers followed by floats entered by negro citizens, "Spirit of 1850," College Temple club, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Old Tally-Ho, City of Raymond, Wesleyan club, Atlanta and West Point railroad, county schools, Coweta Red Cross, Newnan hospital, Newnan drug stores, G. S. C. V. club, city of Grantville, Newnan reading circle, Shorter college club, city of Senoia, Building and Loan association, fire department, M. B. Moore and Son, the Quality shop, D. W. Boone and company, International Harvester company, negro singers, H. V. Kell and company, W. Y. Barnes, Buck float, Ivey Motor company, Chevrolet float, B. C. Arnall Merchandise company, eight floats by cooperating Newnan merchants, Central of Georgia railroad, Southern Bell Telephone company, Columbus Power company, Arnall mills, Newnan cotton mills, Grantville hosiery mills, Newnan hosiery mills, McIntosh mills, Murphy Underwear company, Arno mills, Southeast Cotton Oil mill, Coweta Cotton Oil company, Southern Cotton Oil company, Newnan Ice company, Coca-Cola Bottling company, Coweta Ice and Fuel company, Boy Scouts, American Legion, county commissioners, Newnan city schools, six floats; Kiwanis club, Rotary club, Woman's club and city of Newnan.

The centennial celebration and historical parade were held in conjunction with the Coweta county fair. The fair opened Monday and is one of the largest in the state. The main building was crowded with an array of exhibits worthy of any fair in the country, while an attractive midway was provided by the big Miller Brothers carnival. Special programs have been arranged for each of these days at the fair.

Colorful Pageant.

Few pageants ever offered in the state moved as smoothly or presented a more picturesque appearance than the beautiful allegorical pageant provided for the centennial celebration and directed by Mrs. M. Backus, of Atlanta. It was offered in a natural amphitheater at the fair grounds, with special costumes for the groups depicting various outstanding events in the history of Coweta county. The performance lasted for more than two hours and was witnessed by a crowd that thronged the grounds to capacity. The allegorical story was written by Miss Laura Blackshear, of the state college of agriculture.

A synopsis of the pageant as prepared by Miss Blackshear, is as follows: As a part of the celebration for the centennial of Coweta county there has been written an allegorical pageant covering in its various episodes the periods from 1827 to the present date.

The first episode opens with the Indian occupation. Indians in regalia engaged in war dance, and the arrival of Chief William McIntosh. The camp fire and the arrival of James Oglethorpe, and the white settlers, the treaty, the ceding of land to the whites, and the death of General McIntosh. The hands of his own men to depict this period of history.

This is followed by episode 2 portraying the "Pioneer Days," pioneers arrive in covered wagon, establishment of the first town at Bulloch, the building of the churches, which seems to have been the first impulse of this ancient and honorable people.

The arrival of General Daniel Newton, the establishment of a school house, setting out clearly the reverential life of those early pioneers. The establishment of Newnan as a village with its background of churches, and the early marriage ceremony lend a touch of romance to these eventful days.

At this point an interlude will be introduced showing one of the early folk dances of the minut type with the young people suitably arrayed in wig, buckles and panniers. Followed by episode No. 3 showing the progress of the time as business places multiplied, as hostile Indian bands were repulsed, as stage coaches gave way to railroad traffic, and the establishment of the famous college temple with young women coming from far and near to take advantage of the courses in this great institution.

No picture of our country or its people would be complete without the introduction of the faithful slave, and this is portrayed in a very interesting and delightful way. As the old slave sits around the cabin in the evening the little white children come down from the "big house" to hear the marvelous tales of "Brer Rabbit and the Tar Baby," and as this story is told to wide-eyed and wide-mouth children, other boys and girls dressed as these interesting animals act in pantomime the story.

This is followed by the next episode covering the period of the early 60's where happy maidens and care-free and courageous men indulge in social activities. Disturbed by the call for loyal men to defend the "cause." The going away of the boys in grey, the hardships of the period, the reconstruction days, made lighter possibly upon this section by the wise administration of the federal district judge, John Erskine. Carry on and material progress.

Parade of Papers.

At this point an interlude showing the positions of the county will be put on under the head of "The Parade of the Papers," and the sixteen publications that have flourished in the past hundred years will be appropriately symbolized, giving conspicuous place to the present Newnan Herald, which has served the community so unselfishly and so satisfactorily for the past years.

This brings us to the period of the

a Furnace on the Budget Plan

If it is not now financially convenient for you to install a New Improved Moncrief Furnace, don't let that interfere. A small cash payment secures immediate installation and the balance may be taken care of on the budget plan.

Many home owners are taking advantage of this easy way to have their old, worn out and unsatisfactory furnaces replaced by the New Improved Moncrief, and those who are now without furnace comfort, are putting in this fine heating system on the budget plan.

By installing a furnace in the summer before the fall and winter rush, there is plenty of time for the installation and it will be ready when the first cold weather comes. Then, too, Moncrief's scientific method of installation makes it unnecessary to tear up floors or walls. There is no inconvenience.

FIRE DEPARTMENT RESTRICTION SEEN

Possibility that services of the Atlanta fire department will be restricted to the city limits was seen Wednesday following a meeting of the Atlanta fire board at which a special committee was named to confer with members of the Fulton county commissioners relative to continuance of the department's activities outside the limits of the city.

This action was taken by the board after a report of Chief William H. Cody, of the fire department, indicated that persons living outside of city limits have grown to expect the service free of any charge and that they consider that the department is bound to rush to the relief of threatened property whether it lies within the city or not.

The report also carried the inference that members of the department are treated discourteously on occasions, and that unless they respond at once to requests, that out-of-the-city residents become abusive.

Chief Cody pointed out that his department is willing to cooperate to the fullest extent with outlying districts, but stated that he desired instructions from the fire board as to its policy in the future.

Fulton county commissioners will be interviewed at its next meeting relative to terms on which the city can continue to give the service. Chief Cody, Alderman W. Guy Dobbs and Councilman Frank Callaway, chairman of the board, will form the committee to confer with the commission.

Unless the county and the commission can come to an understanding regarding the service, it was indicated that the board may discontinue it in the future.

Two Men Held In Griffin Jail In Negro's Death

Griffin, Ga., September 28.—(Special.)—L. E. Huffman, employee of the pepper factory at Griffin, was committed to jail today in a hearing before Judge J. B. Hightower. Huffman was charged with the killing of George Miller, negro employee of the plant, last Friday in an altercation. Huffman was held in jail with a companion, Ernest Brown, pending the hearing. Attorneys filed motion for bail and this plea will be heard Saturday.

Witnesses for the state and for the defense differed on whether the negro had a weapon in his possession, as Judge Hightower ruled that the case should be heard in superior court. Huffman testified that he shot the negro, who had taken up an argument with his brother, had gotten a pepper plant when Miller drew a gun from his pocket and he thought the negro was going to shoot his companion, Ernest Brown.

Brown will be given a hearing Thursday.

HOUSE OF DAVID HEARING CLOSES

St. Joseph, Mich., September 28.—(AP.)—Closing arguments in the state's prolonged suit to dissolve the House of David colony as a public nuisance were heard today by Judge Louis H. Fead. Special Assistant Attorney General George E. Nichols asked complete dissolution of the colony through receivership proceedings and distribution of its assets to its present and former membership.

Judge Fead announced his decision would not be given for possibly two months. Governor Fred W. Green and Attorney General W. W. Potter listened to the final arguments of the special prosecutor.

The hearing occupied approximately eleven weeks subsequent to many more weeks during which time the state sent attorneys, doctors, lawyers, professors and naturalists.

In his findings, soon to be published by the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, Dr. Pape declared that "in the structure of her own brain Mrs. Gardner has presented abundant evidence that the brain of a woman is not inferior to that of a man of equal rank."

"My study definitely substantiates her lifelong contention that, given the same material, woman's brains are the equal of men's."

The state opened the arguments Monday before Judge Fead, followed by defense counsel Tuesday. Testimony advanced by both state and defense composed the greatest volume of its kind in the history of the state, bringing into the history the life story of "King Ben" and his consort, included in this testimony is the allegation that Purnell left a wife and a child, without divorce, to marry "Queen Mary."

OFFICER A. L. KINARD SUSPENDED 15 DAYS

Decision to ask city council to revoke the license of D. J. Lee, to operate private detective agency, election of nine additional members to the supervisory board and suspension of Patrolman A. L. Kinard featured the session of the Atlanta police commission Wednesday night.

The Lee license will be nullified if city council follows the recommendation of the committee, which acted on a report offered by A. Lamar Foster, first assistant chief of police. It was contended that the bureau probably would not be a credit to the profession.

John T. Thibault, Frank B. Kelly, Benben Tuggle, S. C. Wallace, G. A. Jenkins, Roy F. Bazemore and Felton O. Bishop are the new superintendents.

Kinard was suspended 15 days following conviction on charges of neglect of duty. He was charged with neglecting to take a patrolman to the station, who was fired July 26 on charges of having liquor in his home.

DeKalb county, served notice through his attorney, Paul Lindsay, that he will carry the case to Fulton county courts on an appeal.

Fifteen additional policemen were added to the list to serve during the Southeastern fair, which opens Saturday.

Other routine matters also were considered.

COWETA DEPICTS CENTURY PROGRESS

Spanish-American war where another call to arms is made, and the Newman guards and their participation in this gallant response is suitably commemorated.

Following this period there is a great agricultural and industrial development which is set forth in very striking detail through the industry of the boys and girls club under the skillful direction of the county agents. A very colorful pantomime is arranged in the cotton girl, and those dressed for crimson clover, corn and the potato, and the boys with their cattle and the girls in their canning and handwork, and of course, this is not to be complete unless the little boy could sneak out of the bushes and he is shooed away by the calcium arsenate fairy. All of this is arranged in its proper setting and shows the wonderful agricultural developments over this period and merged with its industrial growth, this being carried out by the passing of those individuals suitably dressed and stopping on the center of the stage and depositing some product of the industry at the feet of the queen.

After this episode there will follow the scene of the world war which will be spectacular, and it is only necessary to call to your mind the Red Cross nurses, the soldier boys and old men, the girls and boys waving a fond goodbye, the patience and expectancy at home, the days of food administration and the valiant "carry on over seas," to give you an idea of just what this episode holds for you. At the close of this all participants will be brought back in the chronological order and participate in the grand finale.

In this finale one of the most striking instances will be the introduction of the fleet of ships, building the grand finale around this as a central theme indicating that the progress and well being of this country through the past years has been because of the allegiance to its religious faith and calling upon the rising generation to observe with proper reverence this heritage and to walk in its pathways.

The pageant is so written that it is enacted before the queen of the centennial and her attendants, the queen on her throne, surrounded by these beautiful attendants, and she unfolds before her the history of her honorable and valiant people. The continuity of the story read by Father Time, and the queen's jester is the host of the occasion. All through the pageant, of course, suitable music will be furnished, and those of us who attend will live again in pageantry, and are fully reminded of the cost of liberty, and will be urged not to be ungrateful of the privileges which we enjoy.

Women's Brains Are Equal To Men's, Says Scientist

Ithaca, N. Y., September 28.—(United News.)—The brain of a leading American feminist, dissected by scientists, has substantiated her lifelong claim that women's brains are the equal of men's.

When Mrs. Helen T. Gardner, widely known artist, lecturer and feminist, died in 1925 she left her brain to Cornell university for use as a basis of study and research in this unexplored branch of science.

For two years Dr. K. W. Papez, curator of the Wilder brain collection at the university, worked with Mrs. Gardner's brain, comparing it with the best male brains in the collection, including those of doctors, lawyers, professors and naturalists.

In his findings, soon to be published by the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, Dr. Papez declared that "in the structure of her own brain Mrs. Gardner has presented abundant evidence that the brain of a woman is not inferior to that of a man of equal rank."

"My study definitely substantiates her lifelong contention that, given the same material, woman's brains are the equal of men's."

"In its entire organization," Dr. Papez continues, "it reveals a wealth of cortical substance or gray matter that is only equalled, but not exceeded, by the best brains in the Cornell collection."

The collection of brains in the Cornell laboratories are neatly labelled, but because of the sensitiveness of relatives of those who have willed them to science the names are closely guarded.

Mrs. Gardner, however, was eager that the report of the scientists who examined her brain be made public because she was certain it would support her claim of mental equality.

The unique collection of several dozen brains at Cornell was started by the late Dr. Burt G. Wilder during the nineteenth century. At that time he issued an appeal for the brains of intellectual leaders. Mrs. Gardner willed her brain to the collection in 1927.

President Woodrow Wilson, as a recognition of her services, appointed Mrs. Gardner in 1929 the first woman member of the United States civil service commission, and she held this office until the time of her death in August, 1925, at the age of 72.

Beauty Pageant Winners Are Found Falling Stars

BY ALFRED P. RECK.

Washington, September 28.—(Copyright, 1927, by United News.)—Are winners of America's greatest beauty contests permanent or falling stars?

The controversy has been brought to the fore by the recent coronation of Miss America in 1927 and 1928, scored a questionable success in vaudeville, made but little money and returned to her home in Columbus, Ohio. The capital society took her up for a while and she was a much sought after and popular young woman. Rumors had her engaged to marry several times, but they were always denied. Early this summer she left Columbus after her mother died and went to California where she is now living.

Miss America in 1924—Ruth Malcomson, of Philadelphia—is credited with making approximately $25,000 from three-day vaudeville performances, spending most of it and then working in a photographers' shop. At the present time she is in Europe on an advertising promotion plan.

Fay No Success.

Miss Fay Lamphere, the beauty winner in 1925, made some money in the movies, in which she was experienced before in Atlantic City success. For a time she conducted a beauty culture studio in Oakland, Cal., and later went on a tour with a beauty show. Her earnings are said to have not been greatly increased because of her title as Miss America.

Miss Norma Smallwood, of Tulsa, Okla., Miss America in 1926, is credited with earning approximately $500 a week during her short stage career. Later she toured the country conducting beauty shows and was engaged to a judge. She returned to Tulsa for a brief time and then moved to New York.

This year's Miss America—Lois Delandea, of Joliet, Ill., although only 16 years of age, has apparently taken heed of the experience of the former beauty winners.

Short Earning Power.

"I realize the earning power of the title can last but a few months," she told the United News, "and while I am anxious to make the most of it, I am also keeping in mind that I have two years of high school to finish. After that college. Stage appearances are rather tedious, not exciting in the least."

At the present time, Miss Delandea is appearing in a Chicago theater under a two-months contract at a salary said to be $1,000 a week. Her present stage work is to smile, with no speaking lines.

She says cosmetic companies and calendar publishers have offered her considerable money for the use of her picture.

But she realizes and is thinking, "after a few months of this, then what?"

Miss Gorman realized no financial benefits from her title. She was only 16 years of age when she was crowned Miss America and she immediately returned to high school.

Miss Mary Catherine Campbell, winner of the title in 1923, has been a movie actress and very few of the winners have gone back to their former lives.

Miss Gorman, the first Miss America, does not believe the contests as they are conducted today are worth it.

"A girl has nothing to gain," Mrs. Cahill said, "unless she wants a stage or movie career and very few of the winners have gone back to their former lives."

"Except for the publicity, the girl would have just as good a chance if she has the ability, as she would if she did not enter."

No Financial Return.

Miss Gorman realized no financial benefits from her title. She was only 16 years of age when she was crowned Miss America and she immediately returned to high school.

Miss Mary Catherine Campbell, winner of the title in 1923, has been a movie actress and very few of the winners have gone back to their former lives.

DUKES PLAN TO SPEND 25 MILLION ON POWER

Charlotte, N. C., September 28.—(AP.)—Announcement that a program of construction involving the expenditure of $25,000,000 will be undertaken by the Duke interests was made at headquarters of the organization here today.

Details of the projects to be undertaken in developing electrical power in the two Carolinas were not made known but it was stated that the work is a part of a $100,000,000 program of construction for which W. S. Lee, head of the Duke enterprises, has plans on his desk.

The announcement said that the industrial development in North Carolina and South Carolina during the past year has been more than double that anticipated and that much additional construction will be necessary in 1928 to meet the growing demand for hydro-electric power. The average increase in demand for electric energy in the two states, it was stated, has been nine per cent a year in recent years but during 1927 it has been twenty per cent more than in 1926 and the present load carried by the Duke lines is being exceeded.

It was added that in 1929 many millions will be spent on new power projects but that the program for that year has not been worked out. The 1930 program will not be quite so large, he stated, and some would otherwise be necessary, due to the fact that the great project of the Barstow interests near Saluda, S. C., will be placed in operation in that year and

CIVIL SERVICE FOR DRY AGENTS DELAYED MONTH

Washington, September 28.—(United News.)—The federal prohibition bureau will not go under civil service until a month later than originally planned, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman announced today. The date now set is November 1.

Because of the enormity of the task and the fact that the civil service commission has been handicapped by lack of funds, examinations have been held up, it was explained.

Approximately 20,000 applications are on file for the 3,500 positions in the bureau.

FIREMEN OF FOUR LOUISIANA CITIES FIGHT $10,000 FIRE

Independence, La., September 28.—(AP.)—Fire departments from three adjoining towns were called upon today to aid the Independence fire department in extinguishing a fire which destroyed the Independence Motor company.

The fire followed an explosion in the motor plant and gained headway so rapidly as to threaten other buildings in the vicinity. Cais were made for the Amite, Pontchartrou and Houma departments and with the joint efforts of the four companies, the flames were confined to the motor company structure.

Damage was estimated by the owners at in excess of $10,000.

Sam W. Small Visits The Southern Business College And Writes His Impressions

By Sam W. Small.

When Woodrow Wilson came to Atlanta in 1881 to obtain admission to the bar he and I became quite intimate. As I was official reporter of the superior court and he was eager to be coached in the details of daily court practice, he sat with me freely at my reporter's desk. Watching me taking notes of testimony, arguments and charges from the bench, he became intrigued by the art of photography and concluded that it would be beneficial to him to learn its use.

I advised him to get Ben Pitman's book and begin the study, offering to coach him along until he grasped the principles and graphics of the art, and would need only to speed his practice. He became quite fascinated with his study of the "pot-hooks and bird-tracks" and soon had a practical understanding of them.

Soon afterwards he removed from Atlanta, but some years later when I went to address the students at Wesleyan university, in Connecticut, where he was then a professor, I asked him about his shorthand. He said it was an invaluable aid to him in composition of his lectures and books, and in making notations in volumes during his reading of them.

Later, when he was president of the United States he referred gratefully to the aid I had given him in acquiring his use of shorthand.

Of the fifteen presidents in the White House that I have known, he was the only one who knew and used the art. But there have been secretaries of presidents such as Cortelyou, and Loeb, and Moore, whose shorthand expertise gave them their places, from which they have graduated into some of the highest industrial executive positions in the nation.

The Southern Shorthand and Business university here in Atlanta is one of the great national schools for the training of stenographers for all lines of professional, commercial and industrial life. It teaches the pure system used in the parliament of England, and in the congress of the United States, and in the official circles of all English-speaking people. President Taft, who leads the teaching of the art was himself a general reporter and employs six other shorthand teachers of ripe experience. Shorthand proficiency is one of the surest shortcuts from labor dependency to executive efficiency and independence.

Having known and often written of this university for over half a century, and having knowledge of the "insides" of the best-reputed like institutions in this country and Canada, I can truthfully declare it equal-footed in its high personnel, its equipment, its graduate products, with any to be found on the continent.

Its annual student body has grown from 100 a third of a century ago to over 1,000 young men and young women from all the southern and many adjacent states.

Its teaching in every department is by the most approved methods of the times and is carried on in the largest and most elegantly-appointed quarters in the country. And from them no less than 30,000 students have gone out to fill important and profitable positions.

New pupils are coming into Atlanta daily from all parts of the state and the south. They have learned, by contact with former graduates and by inquiry among employers of expert helpers, that a diploma from the Southern Shorthand and Business university is a passport to preferment.

This admirable institution, under the presidency of Professor Arnold, is one of the salient institutions of this progressive city and is itself a magnet attracting hither the elements of a yet greater metropolis.

PROCESSION STAGED IN CONNECTION WITH METROPOLITAN FILM

Kick Out of Old Auto Parade on Monday

Here's one of the old vets that will chug its way in the "old auto" parade to be sponsored by The Constitution Monday. It's a 1908 Sears, Roebuck gas buggy. It is owned by A. O. Lee, of Grantville, Ga., who states it has been in use up until two years ago, carrying children to school. Its appearance in the procession will be sponsored by the local branch of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Atlanta who go in for antiques will have the treat of their lives next Monday at noon, when The Constitution's "old auto" parade, composed of antiquated motorized vehicles, will rattle down Peachtree and Whitehall streets to remind onlookers of the fact that "The First Auto," super-picture portraying the development of the motor industry, will hold the boards for the week at the Metropolitan theater.

In connection with this quaint picture, The Constitution is promoting the procession of venerable autos in order to picture the gigantic strides which makers of cars have taken during the past three decades. In order to heighten this effect, cars of the latest and finest type will purr alongside the veterans of the past, which will sputter and roar under their own power.

Also in connection with "The First Auto," The Constitution is offering to the man and the woman who prove they were the first automobile drivers to take a chance with Atlanta traffic, prizes of $10 in gold each. All persons who desire to enter this event should file their claims at the box office of the Metropolitan theater, supplying the names of two persons who will substantiate them.

The "First Auto" is pronounced one of the most charming and delightful releases from the movie studios in many months. It stars Barney Oldfield, the always-popular racer of olden days, and petite Patsy Ruth Miller, and it is said to be replete with laughs and thrills.

SOUTHERN PROHIBITION CHIEF RESIGNS

Washington, September 28.—(AP)—The resignation of A. A. Catterall, assistant prohibition administrator for Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas, has been received by Commissioner Doran. It will be accepted to become effective within a few days.

Catterall had just been detailed to the New Jersey district, in which 18 enforcement agents were dropped last week as the result of special investigations, to take charge on permissive work, but it is understood that he did not wish to move his family from the south.

Commissioner Doran said today that internal conditions in the New Orleans office to which Catterall was assigned were not altogether satisfactory several months ago, but that since several resignations have been turned over to O. D. Jackson, administrator, the factional strife and agitation within the office has been practically removed.

DUVALL INSISTS HE WILL KEEP JOB

Indianapolis, Ind., September 28.—(AP)—Mayor J. L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, convicted recently of violating the corrupt practices act, but free on bond pending sentence, today declared he placed little credence in reports that the grand jury or any other agency was considering moves to bring about his removal from office.

The mayor reiterated he did not contemplate resigning and added that he did not appoint his wife city comptroller with the thought in mind that she eventually would succeed him. Mrs. Duvall was appointed Monday.

The newest development in the Indiana political situation today was a report that the Marion county grand jury was considering filing impeachment proceedings against the mayor. It was learned from reliable authority that final decision in the matter would be reached at a conference with Prosecutor William H. Remy and his special assistants, John W. Holtzman and Emory Johnson, and the grand jury.

Should the grand jury return any information, Mayor Duvall would be called upon to answer in criminal court. The law provides that in the event an official denies the charge he shall stand trial before a jury. Conviction in such case would automatically suspend the mayor from holding office even pending an appeal to the higher courts.

NESLE TO FACE TRIAL IN NASSAU

Nassau, Bahamas Islands, September 28.—(United News).—"Pop" Nesle, 67-year-old politician, gun-runner, prohibition agent and alleged pirate, is on his way to Nassau to stand trial for his life.

It was rumored that "Pop" had escaped from Bimini, where he was arrested on a charge of piracy for seizing a rum-running boat and appropriating its cargo.

"Pop" had escaped; but not from Bimini—only from the jail there. Bimini, the little Bahama island, was just one big jail to him, for there was no place to go from there, and he returned home to prison for breakfast next morning.

Now he is proceeding, under guard, on a British government mail boat to Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, to stand trial. If he is found guilty he may be hanged from the yardarm of a ship under the ancient British piracy law.

"Pop" or Charles H. as he signs himself formally, is expected here tonight, and his cell is awaiting him.

By his latest adventure, "Pop" risks adding a final title to a long list acquired during an active life: He ran guns and ammunition to Cuba before the Spanish-American war freed the republic from Spanish rule. Twenty years ago he established headquarters in Florida, and became a republican politician.

He left the United States after walking out of a Savannah court, where he was charged with bribery a year ago, and took refuge on the tiny island of Cat Cay. It was there, in British waters, it is charged, that he "pirated" a rum-running boat.

which Mr. Napier is vice president, is made up of prominent state officers from all over the country. The meeting opens Monday and will continue through Wednesday.

Industrial Boards Meet Hears Technical Papers

With scientific papers by Atlanta doctors constituting the major portion of the program Wednesday, second day of the fourteenth annual convention of the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions, accident and health authorities from all sections of the country paid tribute to the speakers by a vote of appreciation at close of the afternoon session.

Two special guests at the afternoon session, which began at the Biltmore hotel, headquarters for the conference, at 1 o'clock, were Governor Clifford Walker and R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner and former industrial commissioner. They made short addresses, welcoming the visitors here and praising the work they are doing to lessen the woe of human suffering in the industries of the country.

Speakers on the program for the morning session were Dr. Lawson Thornton, Dr. C. E. Downman and Dr. Lewis M. Gaines, all of Atlanta, and Dr. I. M. Gravelle, of Birmingham, Ala. Dr. C. W. Roberts, of Atlanta, presided. At the afternoon session, with Dr. Andrew F. McBride, commissioner of labor of New Jersey, presiding, addresses were delivered by Dr. H. H. Dorr, of Ohio; Dr. C. W. Roberts, Dr. G. H. Gehrmann, of Wilmington, Del., and Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, of Atlanta.

Dr. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health, attracted considerable attention with his talk on industry and public health. Another outstanding address of the afternoon session was that by Dr. Roberts on factors influencing the disability period following industrial injuries. Dr. Dorr presented a paper on what compensation commissions want of the physicians, while the problems of the physician for the self-insurer were covered in an address by Dr. Gehrmann.

When the session convenes at the Biltmore at 9 o'clock this morning, Eugene J. Brock, chairman of the department of labor and industry of Michigan, will preside. Charles H. Verrill, United States Employees' Compensation commissioner, will discuss the federal longshoremen's and harbor workers' compensation act.

John A. McGilvray, chairman, Industrial Accident Commission of California, will lead the discussion. Mrs. F. L. Roblin, Industrial Commission of Oklahoma, will present a paper on the portion of the commission's time that should be given to untested cases. O. F. McShane, Industrial Commission of Utah, will discuss the right of injured workmen to select his own physician, while the subject of differentiating the independent contractor and employee will be presented by James A. Hamilton, industrial commissioner of New York.

Speakers at the afternoon session will be L. W. Hatch, department of labor of New York; Fred M. Wilson, chairman Industrial Commission of Wisconsin; Robert H. Carr, chairman State Industrial Accident Commission of Maryland; Dr. B. Bowyer, Stonega, Va., and Rolling H. Handy, chairman Industrial Commission of Virginia, while John A. McGilvray, of California, will preside. Discussion will be led by Henry J. Halford, of Ontario.

Leading color to the convention will be the banquet at the Biltmore hotel tonight. The Atlanta Claim Men's association, composed of representatives of the claim departments of the various casualty insurance companies located in Atlanta, and the claim adjusters for the Georgia Power company will be hosts to the visitors.

Lindbergh Reception Plans Laid at Committee Meeting

When Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh lands the "Spirit of St. Louis" in Atlanta about 2:30 p. m. on October 11, he will be the object of a program of two weeks' preparation, which officially began at a meeting at noon Wednesday of Governor Hardman, Mayor Ragsdale and more than 100 members of the general committee, in the council chamber of city hall.

At the meeting committees and sub-committees were named, chairmen and vice chairmen were appointed, and the complete schedule of entertainment and festivities attendant the visit of Colonel Lindbergh was mapped out. Henderson Hallman, president of the local chapter of the National Aeronautical association and chairman of the general committee, presided at the meeting.

More than 100,000 people are expected to come from all parts of the state to Atlanta on the occasion of "Lindbergh day," as it has been officially designated, and several committees were appointed Wednesday to handle this phase alone. Efforts will be made to obtain decreased railroad rates from all parts of the state, and the governor and mayor will issue proclamations declaring a holiday.

Governor Hardman tendered the use of the gubernatorial mansion on The Prado to Lindbergh during his brief stay. Mr. Hallman accepted the offer on behalf of the committee.

School Holiday. In Atlanta Superintendent of Schools Willis A. Sutton will be requested to proclaim a holiday for all school children in the city to allow them to participate in the festive atmosphere which is expected to pervade the city and its environs on "Lindbergh day." In case efforts to have the children released from classes for the entire day fail, it will be asked that they be excused long enough to attend the reception exercises.

All attempts to commercialize the visit of Lindbergh will be vigorously discouraged by the committee. Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of Candler field committee, stated, who further stated that several advertising and "money-making" schemes already been called to his attention.

The commercialization of the Lindbergh visit is forbidden by the provisions of the Daniel Guggenheim foundation for the advancement of aeronautics, which is financing the country-wide tour of Lindbergh.

Special police and fire protection will be made necessary on "Lindbergh day" by the immense throngs which are expected. Mr. Hallman said soldiers will be stationed at Candler field to prevent the crowds from overrunning the field, as was the case in the European cities which were visited by Lindbergh.

Fast Parade Specified. The schedule outlined by Mr. Hallman provides that the parade proceed from Candler field, either by Stewart avenue or via College Park, East Point and Fort McPherson to a point near the state capitol, where the parade will form. The Guggenheim foundation has specified that this parade must move at a speed of not less than 15 miles an hour, and it will move at this pace to Piedmont park, where some form of public ceremony may be staged, or directly to the governor's mansion.

The Guggenheim regulations specify that Lindbergh must be allowed to spend the rest of the afternoon in rest, and he will be entertained by Mrs. Hardman, prior to the public reception in his honor at the auditorium in the evening, at an old-fashioned Georgia "home-dinner," which will be attended by only a few officials.

Bowden, reception; Willey Moore, general out-of-town chairman, with particular reference to parking facilities for visitors at the field; Harry York, downtown traffic; Lamar Q. Bell, James A. Hollomon, John Paschal, Mrs. C. P. Byrd, Mrs. R. K. Rambo and Mrs. Norman Sharp, publicity; L. G. Henderson, motor club cooperation; Frank Neely, finance; Willard Cope, power company transportation facilities; A. A. Jamieson, Boy Scouts; R. L. Henry, patriotic organizations; and Mrs. C. J. Foster, in charge of matters pertaining to public school cooperation.

At the meeting Alderman Hartsfield announced that Councilman John A. White, chairman of the parks committee, and L. L. Wallis, superintendent of parks, be asked to cooperate in arranging the reception at the flying field.

GAINESVILLE-ATLANTA CREAM ROUTE STARTED

One of the most significant and important developments in the dairying and agricultural industry of north Georgia was the inauguration between Gainesville and Atlanta last Monday, of a cream route which collects from the dairymen and private farmers along that route, the cream that they may have for marketing.

Officials of the Atlanta Butter company, which operates the route, state that this new route, which is the second of its kind now operated by that company, provides a valuable outlet for dairy products in that section, and they expect the new route to prove one of the most valuable sources of cream that they have.

As an agricultural development, its value is inestimable in the opinion of authorities, and the how small cream route can develop rapidly into some great agricultural improvement that will vitally affect Atlanta, and correspondingly, the section which it serves as outlet.

The Constitution has, for many years, sponsored a more intensified development of Georgia resources, and in this move is seen an outlet that will encourage dairying and eventually, agricultural intensification in the products which are daily consumed by the city.

J. O. Waldrip will cover the route from Gainesville to Atlanta, making two trips per week, on Mondays and Thursdays. He will leave the Golph Brothers hardware store at 8 o'clock in the morning and will have regular pick-up stops all along the highway from Gainesville, via Buford, to Atlanta.

Professional Jurors Dealt Blow by Court When Law Is Cited

"Professional jurors" were struck a blow Wednesday morning when five judges of the Fulton superior court passed an order designed to end the practice of such jurors.

The order refers to the section of the penal code which states that no person shall be allowed to serve on a petit jury, as a tales juror in a criminal court or on any jury in any court more than four weeks in any one year, unless actually engaged in a trial of a case when the four weeks expire.

The action was taken as a result of practice by so-called "professional jurors," who make their living by serving on juries.

World's Harvest Scenes and Fetes To Be Shown in Rich Display Windows

COLORFUL PAINTINGS WILL BE FEATURE OF STORE'S ANNUAL HARVEST SALE

To Be Shown in Rich Display Windows

One of the ten remarkable harvest paintings to be shown in the display windows of Rich's during that concern's annual harvest sale, beginning Saturday. This is a painting of the Spanish fete of the orange.

A gorgeous panorama of colorful harvest scenes in America and foreign lands this morning will greet the eye of all who pass in front of the M. Rich & Bros. Co. department store, which Saturday begins its annual harvest sale to last until October 10.

The scenes, designed by John C. Mackey, display manager of Rich's, and painted in oils by one of the city's most prominent artists, will give the Atlanta shopping public a graphic glimpse of harvest-time customs and traditions of the lands from which the Rich store draws the tremendous stock it has assembled for the 1927 harvest sale.

There will be 10 in number and will fill the great display windows of the Rich company on Broad and Alabama streets. Against a background of black hangings, the great scenes in oil will stand out in clear-cut prominence, their warm colors and excellent workmanship being emphasized by a system of indirect lighting specially designed for the series.

The central scene of the group will be America's first harvest scene, showing the Pilgrim fathers rendering thanks for the plenty of the year 1621. Mr. Mackey did considerable research work in preparation for the scenes, and included in the American picture will be shown a number of the most famous Indian chieftains of the day who, research showed, joined in the early American Thanksgiving harvest event.

English Festival. The second scene shows the Kent baby or harvest queen festival of rural England, it also being a faithful reproduction of life as it was lived in picturesque old England.

Spain's sunshine and romance are depicted in the third scene, which is that of the fete of the orange. In the fourth scene the high lord of a Japanese province is shown offering the first rice to the gods in accordance with an ancient custom in the land of cherry blossoms. The fifth scene presents a rustic chestnut hunt in Switzerland, with the autumn browns of the hillside forest providing a rich background for the glimpse of Swiss life portrayed.

Germany's "der Meister klunk" celebration is the theme of the sixth painting, which shows Teutonic soldiers and a burgomaster swinging their steins to a drinking stave. In the seventh scene Italy's grape harvest is pictured, the rich vineyards of that country serving as a colorful background for the piece.

French rustic harvest rites are the motif of the eighth scene, a group of dancing peasants being presented

Holland is the home of the ninth scene, which shows a group of Netherlands about a table laden with bounties of the harvest. The tenth scene is of Czechoslovakia's posvici, peasants tripping a folk dance of that land being the central group.

Remarkable Series. Mr. Mackey's remarkable creations are the result of long planning and extensive inquiry into the manners, customs, traditions and scenery of foreign lands, and all who see them will be struck by their beauty and charm.

They will remain in Rich's display windows through the harvest sale. In this event, Walter Rich, president of the company, said Wednesday, merchandise of the highest quality and most widely assorted types will be offered the Atlanta public at drastic reductions. Rich's buyers have been busily engaged for months past in making extensive purchases for this sale in markets all over the world, and Mr. Rich stated that he expects the 1927 harvest sale to be the most attractive and successful of its kind ever held by Rich's.

"We cordially invite the general public to call during the sale and share in the remarkable values we shall offer in every department during this event," Mr. Rich stated.

PEACHTREE LEASE BRINGS $100,000

Lease of a downtown building on Peachtree street by Hugh Richardson to Byron Akins, well-known local furniture and rug expert, for an aggregate rental of $100,000, was announced Wednesday by Hugh Richardson, Jr. The transaction is preliminary to the opening of a new retail furniture store in Atlanta.

The building is four stories high and is situated on a lot at 262-264 Peachtree, having a frontage of 40 feet on that street and running back to a depth of 150 feet. The lease involves the entire structure and is for a period of eight years, making an average rental of approximately $12,500 per year. Lessees plan to occupy the building about November 1.

New Commercial Trend.

The location selected by Mr. Akins for the opening of a new furniture business is noteworthy, in addition to the real estate angle, as an indication of a new commercial trend in the retail furniture business. Two stores within a block of the site leased to Byron Akins have been rented to retail furniture concerns during the past 30 days.

In announcing the lease Mr. Richardson, representing one of the largest property holders of the city, pointed out the definite trend to establish a new furniture center on the rapidly developing north end of the city's downtown commercial district. Between the two blocks of Cain and Baker streets, on Peachtree street, there are now four retail furniture companies, including the one just announced, while in this neighborhood there are at least two more large concerns specializing in this line.

The plans being completed by Mr. Akins call for a large assortment of high quality furniture and rugs at moderate prices. Mr. Akins has been connected with several of the leading furniture stores of Atlanta, and has been known here for many years as an expert in this line. The lease involved is one of the largest real estate negotiations closed during the past week.

YEGGMEN LOOT SAFE OF $300 IN CAKE SHOP

Safe crackers looted $300 Tuesday night from one north side place, but failed to obtain any loot in a second establishment in that section. The Hart Tea & Cake shop, 605 Peachtree street, was entered during the night and $300 cash removed from the safe in the shop. The safe was opened by use of an ax and pick. The office of Dr. Cyrus W. Strickler, 123 Forrest avenue, was also entered by burglars evidently in search of drugs. A new safe in the office was untouched, but medical supplies were strewn over the floor. It was the second visit of burglars to Dr. Strickler's office in the past few months.

COMMITTEE TO SCAN TEACHER WAGE RAISE

Members of the citizen's advisory committee, supervising school department expenditures for this year, Wednesday took under advisement action of the school board in reinstating the automatic salary scale increase for school teachers, and will hold another meeting this afternoon, it was said.

Harold Hirsch, chairman of the committee, announced "members of the committee are just studying the figures and will make an announcement as soon as possible."

The board reinstated the salary scale over the protest of Dr. R. M. Eubanks, president, and Commissioners Jim Maddox and Roy D. Warren, at its last session, on grounds that a system of rigid economy has provided the $35,000 it will cost to place it into effect as of September 1 for the remainder of the year.

Members predicted that the scale could not be continued next year and declared that such action was unwise.

RIGHT TO INDICT BANK PRESIDENT IS UPHOLD

The Georgia supreme court, in a decision Wednesday, upheld the right of a grand jury to indict alone the president of a bank which has become insolvent and declared the provisions of section 28 of article 20 of the state banking act of 1919 not violative of the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States.

The decision came in an affirmed judgment in the case of Sand versus the state, in which A. K. Snead, former president of the Citizens State bank of Carrollton, Ga., was indicted, charged with causing fraudulent insolvency of the bank. The superior court's overruling of a demurrer in the case was upheld by the supreme court.

Section 28 of article 20 of the banking act declares that "every insolvency of a bank shall be deemed fraudulent" and that the president and directors shall be severally punished, their imprisonment not to be less than one year nor longer than 10 years. The section further provides that under charge of violation of the section, the defendant may repel the presumption of fraud by showing that the affairs of the bank have been fairly and legally administered and "generally with the same care and diligence that agents receiving commissions for their services are required by law to observe." The section stipulates that upon such a showing the jury shall acquit.

Burden Upon Defendant. The decision declares "the burden of showing that the acts of the accused were not the cause of the insolvency is cast upon the defendant."

"There is no merit," the decision says, "in the demurrer which challenges the presentment because the president of the bank is alone indicted. Even if the president acts with other officers and legally administered and 'generally with the same care and diligence that agents receiving commissions for their services are required by law to observe.' The section stipulates that upon such a showing the jury shall acquit."

The demurrer filed by the defense, overruled by Judge James Maddox of the Rome circuit of the superior court in Carroll county, and which action was affirmed by the supreme court, challenged the legality of the presentment because the president of the bank was alone indicted, challenged the constitutionality of the section of the banking act, and declared, among other things, that the language of the indictment was too vague.

Section of Fourteenth Amendment. One section of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution provides that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

"We think the trial judge correctly overruled all of the grounds of the demurrer," the decision says. "There is 'no merit,' the decision explains, 'in the ground of the demurrer asserting that the provision of section 28 or article 20 of the banking act of 1919 is violative of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.' The ground of the demurrer complaining that the language of the indictment was too vague also was held without merit."

The decision declares that the constitutionality of the challenged section of the banking act has previously been "definitely decided" by the court in the cases of Griffin versus the state, and Fordham versus the state.

Snead was indicted in Carroll county October, 1926, charged with causing the fraudulent insolvency of the Citizens bank, of Carrollton, Ga.

RECLAIMING RICE LANDS.

The directors of the coastal plains experiment station at Tifton are to be commended for the establishment of the station, to consider delta land problems, on the big development of Colonel Huston in McIntosh county, near Darien.

The law provides that this station shall be devoted to experimental and research work on the reclaimed rice lands.

These lands, when properly diked, are the finest for vegetable production to be found in this country.

Colonel Huston is spending several hundred thousands of dollars in reclamation, and in beautifying and building, both on Champey and on Butler Islands. He has imported from California a colony of Japanese truck farmers who are acquainted with delta farming. They are hard workers, clean in their living habits, law abiding, and ambitious. They are well thought of by the natives of the section, and their children go to the neighborhood schools.

It is the purpose of Colonel Huston to have fully one thousand acres in intensive cultivation all the time, with revolving crops. He will have his own packing plant, box factory, etc.

It is such developments as these, when amply financed as is the Huston reclamation, that will make the Altamaha delta, and all of the old rice lands between the Savannah and St. Marys rivers—long idle—one of the richest sections of the east coast.

The Georgia legislature did a splendid work in providing for this research station to help and encourage this work.

Commissioner of Agriculture Talmadge is deeply interested in this delta development, and also in bringing more settlers to these and to other idle farm lands. He is to be warmly commended for this.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN DEBT.

The statement from Moscow that a definite agreement on the debt question had been reached between France and Russia is denied in Paris. As a rejoinder Russia's assistant commissioner of foreign affairs explains that the agreement has not been signed "because the French have not yet accepted our proposals in the matter of credits."

The New York Times comments: "Inasmuch as credits have played the chief role in previous soviet debt negotiations, a failure to agree on that point means that a settlement is far from assured."

The relations between France and Russia are not cordial. Only a few days ago the expulsion of the soviet ambassador to France was seriously considered.

The fact that Russia has probably made a bluff may intensify the French and further strain relations. As to "credit," it is a well established fact that the soviet government has the habit of funding old debts by making new ones.

Russia's debt to France is heavy. Even at $12,000,000 a year payments it would take 62 years to wipe it out. Of course France wants the money, but it wants just that, and not fresh credits.

In the meantime while Russia is apparently in the mood to pay foreign debts, how about the nation's debt to this country which the soviet government has repudiated?

The Same Fellow.

To the volume of evidence against Sir Rowland Blagden's recent claim that the cat was not known in England in Whittington's day (1338-1425) may be added the testimony of Bartholomew de Glanville, who under the name of Bartholomaeus Anglicus, had written a century and a half earlier an account of the behavior of the cat. "He (the cat) is a full lecherous beast in youth, swift, pliant and merry, and leapt and reareth on everything that is made of wood, and is as a mouse, and playeth thereon; and is a right heavy beast in age and full sleep, and lieth aye in wait for mice and is aware of them by more by smell than by sight, and hunteth and reareth on them in privy places; and when he taketh a mouse, he playeth therewith, and eateth him after the play. And maketh a ruthless noise and shout, when one professeth to fight with another; and uneth is hurt when he is thrown down off a high place. There is no doubt about it, it is the same beast."

The New Holiday Fashion.

If sun baths are not as yet as fashionable in France as they are in Germany, the graduates of the French school in places where there has been any sun at all. French women have, however, introduced a refinement into the matter. They may be called sunbathers, or you may call them sunbathers. You cut out in black velvet (or his) initials, or two hearts interlaced, or a little pig, or any other design which you think will add to your charms, and you lay it upon the part of your skin which you are going to tan. The effect is said to be most pleasing. To be sure, the idea was applied to melons and other things before it was adapted to human beings, but it is, doubtless, none the less amusing. It has one advantage over real tanning. A few hours' exposure to the sun will make the initials disappear, if you want to change them.

War Memories.

It is not easy for anyone who does not live in France to understand how the war and its memories are still so fresh in the minds of the people, and the thoughts of the people, but a glance at any day's newspaper may help to an understanding of the fact. Every time a battle is mentioned, there is a flood of some boy on a French farm being killed by a shell which he has turned up with the plow, is reminded of the war. A few hours' exposure to the sun will make the initials disappear, if you want to change them.

CROOKS IN OFFICE.

Indiana is to be congratulated for having the moral vigor to punish wrongdoing in official life. The conviction of Mayor John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, on a charge of corruption came within two weeks after his indictment. He was energetically prosecuted, and as energetically defended, but the evidence of his guilt seemed to be overwhelming.

The present governor of the state, and several politicians are under indictments, and a former governor served several months in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta. The former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, who was the powerful political dictator in the state for several years, is serving a life term in the Indiana penitentiary.

While it is refreshing to know that wrongdoing in public office is frowned upon, and that those guilty of corruption are punished, those facts alone are not sufficient to remedy a bad situation.

The first step is to see that only honest, trustworthy, decent men—men of character in and out of office—are elected to public trust. The crook should find no place in the public affairs of any state, or any county or municipality.

The American people have been too negligent in this matter.

AFTER THE "SHYSTERS."

Federal Judge Grover M. Moscovitz, of New York, struck a telling blow at crooked lawyers when he denounced Mark Henry Schneider, of that city, as "a deliberate perjurer and a disgrace to an honorable profession" and ordered him to jail. He was later released, but charges were preferred against the lawyer and the evidence turned over to the federal grand jury. The judge also declared a report of the proceedings would be filed with the bar association looking to disbarment.

REDISCOUNT CUT PROBE ASSURED

The case at issue is not of interest in this section, but it is of the greatest interest to know that a judge will take such courageous and drastic action against lawyers who resort to corrupt practices.

Every judge in the country ought to do the same thing. It has been charged time and time again that too many judges close their eyes to perjury and to other criminal and unbecoming and unprofessional acts on the part of those who practice before them. It is heartening to find one who is willing to make a drastic example.

The law is one of the finest and most important of professions. The practice of law should be clean. The lawyer should be incorruptible. If more judges act with the same courage that Judge Moscovitz did, it will not be long before the "shysters" will be barred from the court rooms.

One of the common sayings: "You cannot keep a good man down," has lost its aptness since stunt flying became the vogue among aviators.

This thing of getting babies mixed up never happened when they were born in log cabins.

The prohibitionists are already urging good citizens to get out the full vote next November.

We have a perfectly good white house and yet three people have already refused to occupy it.

There are but few toll roads remaining in the south, but the death toll on the roads are increasing.

The Same Fellow.

To the volume of evidence against Sir Rowland Blagden's recent claim that the cat was not known in England in Whittington's day (1338-1425) may be added the testimony of Bartholomew de Glanville, who under the name of Bartholomaeus Anglicus, had written a century and a half earlier an account of the behavior of the cat. "He (the cat) is a full lecherous beast in youth, swift, pliant and merry, and leapt and reareth on everything that is made of wood, and is as a mouse, and playeth thereon; and is a right heavy beast in age and full sleep, and lieth aye in wait for mice and is aware of them by more by smell than by sight, and hunteth and reareth on them in privy places; and when he taketh a mouse, he playeth therewith, and eateth him after the play. And maketh a ruthless noise and shout, when one professeth to fight with another; and uneth is hurt when he is thrown down off a high place. There is no doubt about it, it is the same beast."

The New Holiday Fashion.

If sun baths are not as yet as fashionable in France as they are in Germany, the graduates of the French school in places where there has been any sun at all. French women have, however, introduced a refinement into the matter. They may be called sunbathers, or you may call them sunbathers. You cut out in black velvet (or his) initials, or two hearts interlaced, or a little pig, or any other design which you think will add to your charms, and you lay it upon the part of your skin which you are going to tan. The effect is said to be most pleasing. To be sure, the idea was applied to melons and other things before it was adapted to human beings, but it is, doubtless, none the less amusing. It has one advantage over real tanning. A few hours' exposure to the sun will make the initials disappear, if you want to change them.

War Memories.

It is not easy for anyone who does not live in France to understand how the war and its memories are still so fresh in the minds of the people, and the thoughts of the people, but a glance at any day's newspaper may help to an understanding of the fact. Every time a battle is mentioned, there is a flood of some boy on a French farm being killed by a shell which he has turned up with the plow, is reminded of the war. A few hours' exposure to the sun will make the initials disappear, if you want to change them.

CROOKS IN OFFICE.

Indiana is to be congratulated for having the moral vigor to punish wrongdoing in official life. The conviction of Mayor John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, on a charge of corruption came within two weeks after his indictment. He was energetically prosecuted, and as energetically defended, but the evidence of his guilt seemed to be overwhelming.

The present governor of the state, and several politicians are under indictments, and a former governor served several months in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta. The former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, who was the powerful political dictator in the state for several years, is serving a life term in the Indiana penitentiary.

While it is refreshing to know that wrongdoing in public office is frowned upon, and that those guilty of corruption are punished, those facts alone are not sufficient to remedy a bad situation.

The first step is to see that only honest, trustworthy, decent men—men of character in and out of office—are elected to public trust. The crook should find no place in the public affairs of any state, or any county or municipality.

The American people have been too negligent in this matter.

AFTER THE "SHYSTERS."

Federal Judge Grover M. Moscovitz, of New York, struck a telling blow at crooked lawyers when he denounced Mark Henry Schneider, of that city, as "a deliberate perjurer and a disgrace to an honorable profession" and ordered him to jail. He was later released, but charges were preferred against the lawyer and the evidence turned over to the federal grand jury. The judge also declared a report of the proceedings would be filed with the bar association looking to disbarment.

REDISCOUNT CUT PROBE ASSURED

The case at issue is not of interest in this section, but it is of the greatest interest to know that a judge will take such courageous and drastic action against lawyers who resort to corrupt practices.

Every judge in the country ought to do the same thing. It has been charged time and time again that too many judges close their eyes to perjury and to other criminal and unbecoming and unprofessional acts on the part of those who practice before them. It is heartening to find one who is willing to make a drastic example.

The law is one of the finest and most important of professions. The practice of law should be clean. The lawyer should be incorruptible. If more judges act with the same courage that Judge Moscovitz did, it will not be long before the "shysters" will be barred from the court rooms.

One of the common sayings: "You cannot keep a good man down," has lost its aptness since stunt flying became the vogue among aviators.

This thing of getting babies mixed up never happened when they were born in log cabins.

The prohibitionists are already urging good citizens to get out the full vote next November.

We have a perfectly good white house and yet three people have already refused to occupy it.

There are but few toll roads remaining in the south, but the death toll on the roads are increasing.

OFFICER'S WIFE SERIOUSLY SHOT

Manchester, Ga., September 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. J. C. Hood, wife of City Police Officer Hood, was shot and seriously injured at her home today when the pistol of her husband, which she touched to remove from a table, was discharged.

The ball from the .44 automatic gun struck Mrs. Hood in the shoulder and while her condition is serious, physicians say she will recover.

Officer Hood, it appears, came home late and placed the gun with the safety catch off on a table. When Mrs. Hood desired to remove the weapon her finger touched the trigger while the barrel was pointed toward her, with the result that she received the full force of the shot at close range.

FOR INFLAMED BREATHING TUBES

Try Dr. Blosser's Medical Cigarettes in the Next Attack

If you have catarrh you are in danger of losing your hearing. The first symptoms of catarrhal deafness are roaring or buzzing sensations and a stopped-up feeling in the ears. A neglected cold, or an uncurbed cold, leads to catarrh, and as everybody knows, catarrh affects the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs and frequently undermines the general health.

The secret of the successful medication of these hidden parts was discovered by Dr. Blosser in his medical practice. This remedy is applied by smoking a certain combination of medicinal herbs (containing no opium or tobacco) in a pipe or cigarette. Dr. Blosser's Remedy produces a dense smoke vapor which is inhaled or forced into the Eustachian tubes leading to the middle ear. It penetrates to parts impossible to reach with balms, salves, sprays, douches, pills, tablets, and so-called "constitutional treatments." This remedy is absolutely harmless and is being used successfully by adults and children.

You can get from any drug store a convenient pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant beneficial effects.—(adv.)

MEXICAN PRIEST CAPTURED, SLAIN

Mexico City, September 28.—(P.)—Thirty-four rebellious "Catholic fanatics" were killed and a Catholic priest, Father Sedano, was captured and summarily court-martialed and executed after two brisk combats with federal troops in the state of Jalisco, says a bulletin issued by the presidential bureau tonight.

One corporal and two soldiers were killed and one officer and nine soldiers wounded.

Reports of the affair were received from Military Commandant Ferreira. The first fight took place in Los Mesquites, where 38 rebels, headed by Sedano and another chief named Placencia, were entrenched. This fight lasted four hours, and 4 rebels were killed and two captured and executed. The others fled. Sedano being taken by the troops and later shot.

The second engagement lasted three hours, after 250 rebels, commanded by Alberto Parajas, Francisco Losa, Florencio Zaragoza and Jesus Nunez, attacked federal troops under Colonel Ortiz Sevilla at Portezuelo. The rebels were repulsed and fled to the mountains, abandoning 18 dead and many wounded.

CO-ED'S FATE GOES TO JURORS TODAY

Georgetown, Texas, September 28.—(P.)—Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, 22-year-old former coed, who is alleged to have robbed a bank and planned the robbery of another while she was working for a master of arts degree at the University of Texas, had no sense of right or wrong, alienists testified today in her trial on a charge of arson.

The testimony of the experts was corroborated by Atty. Rogers, young lawyer and former Texas university student, whose marriage to the defendant was revealed after her arrest last December.

Testimony was concluded today and the fate of the young woman will be placed in the hands of the jury tomorrow. District Judge Cooper Samuels will deliver his charge in the morning.

"Delusions of grandeur," "grandiose gestures" and "an enlarged egoism" were some of the terms used by defense witnesses today in describing the defendant's mental condition. Several experts testified she suffered from dementia precox.

"She simply isn't there," was the way Dr. Max Handman, Texas university professor and criminologist, summed up for the jury.

Mrs. Rogers is charged with having burned a house in Round Rock, Texas, with the intent of diverting the attention of the Round Rock bank employees while she attempted to rob the institution. Those in the bank failed to rush to the fire and there was no robbery.

She faces trial later on a charge of holding up the Farmers' National bank at Buda, Texas, the day following the Round Rock fire. The woman who robbed the bank used a revolver and obtained $1,000.

Rogers testified he believed his wife "unbalanced" at the time of the burning of the building and said that after her arrest she seemed to feel that she "was incapable of wrong."

DEWEY MAY HEAD U. S. POLISH AID

Washington, September 28.—(P.)—Revived discussion of the Polish loan in Washington today developed the fact that Assistant Secretary Charles S. Dewey of the treasury department has been among the men whose names have been discussed for appointment as virtual controller of the expenditure of the money by Poland in an effort to stabilize Polish currency.

The state department has definitely signified to the American bankers who are negotiating with Poland in connection with the $70,000,000 project that the plan meets with administrative approval. The project calls for flotation of $45,000,000 of the total in the United States, the remainder to be taken up abroad.

condition of American participation, it has been understood, is assignment by the American banking group of a qualified advisor to the Polish authorities who would supervise the stabilization program, at least to the extent that American dollars are involved.

Should Dewey be offered and accept the job, his retirement from the treasury department would be necessary as the loan transaction is purely one between American bankers and the Polish government.

Atlanta Boy Wins Premier In Three Days' Spare Time

Aubrey Cole, of Atlanta, and the Premier bicycle he won under The Constitution's free offer to boys and girls.

Here's more proof of the fact that it's easy to win a $50 Premier bicycle under the terms of The Constitution's free offer of these wonderful playthings to boys and girls.

Aubrey Cole, of 1263 Arkwright, S. E., Atlanta, won his bicycle in exactly three days of his spare time. "Just as soon as I found out that The Constitution was going to give the boys and girls bicycles for getting 15 new six months' subscriptions," he told The Constitution upon receipt recently of his Premier, "I went down to The Constitution office and got a book to go out and get subscribers for. I knew that I could win one of those bicycles."

"I didn't have any trouble at all, and it didn't take but part of my time for three days to get the fifteen subscribers. I got my bicycle and it sure is a dandy, too."

Scores of other boys and girls have won their Premiers—the speediest and snappiest bike you ever saw—and every one of them has reported that it was easy to succeed. "All you have to do is to secure 15 new six months' subscriptions to The Daily and Sunday Constitution, and the bicycle is yours."

There's a handsome Premier waiting for you. Are you willing to get out and win it? If so, lose no time in writing or calling at the circulation department of The Constitution.

Atlanta Mother Returning With Babes After Long Hunt

There is no love like the love of a mother for her young. There is no force more powerful than that which will bring a mother across insurmountable difficulties and obstacles to the plaintive cry of her progeny.

Mrs. Corbelle Davis is returning with her children to Atlanta Thursday. Her two small children for whom she conducted a country-wide search will possess them in the arms of their mother.

Mrs. Davis, well-known Atlanta woman and clerk in the municipal court of Atlanta, received her divorce from her husband more than six years ago, and it was agreed that the two children should remain with each parent a certain part of each year.

The agreement was violated by the husband who disappeared with the children, it is stated, and Mrs. Davis, urged by the love that knows no barriers searched for her children to possess them for the part of the year that they belonged to her.

The search took her to the extremes of the continent. To Alberta, Canada, and scores of other distant places, the trail of her children led Mrs. Davis. For six years she searched with a care that knew no discouragement, a love that knew no denial. She found them in Houston, Texas.

Lateral Pass Is Stressed In S. C. Camps

Scrimmages and Blackboard Drills in Limelight as Teams Work Out.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Blackboards were being uncovered in Southern conference camps this week, and football squads were being shown exactly how they should combat the lateral pass, the rearward pass, the spreading line and various what-nots they may confront in Saturday's game.

Along with this theoretical drill, scrimmages were also being served in large portions.

Kentucky's squad was double stepping in anticipation of interconference combat, with Indiana on the Lexington field. Coach Ganage stressed fundamentals in an effort to bring reversal of the off-form shown by the Wildcats last week.

Alabama's Crimson Tide continued plugging away on forward plays with backs moving swiftly to the scrimmage line and then attempting to wriggle through. All this contrary to the fact that critics predict the Tide will have something up its adagial sleeve by October 8 when Louisiana State is met.

Estelle Takes 'Up' For 'Out' and Is Sad Now

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune)

New York, September 28.—That his wife, Estelle Taylor, film actress, is heartbroken over what Leo Flynn, Jack Dempsey's manager, declares was the "worst deal ever given a victorious fighter," was largely borne out by admissions of the former champion here today.

The night of the fight Estelle listened to the returns over the radio in the private suite of the Dempsey in the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago.

In describing the knockdown of Tunney in the seventh round, the announcer's voice rang out "eight, nine, up."

Estelle, misunderstanding the word up as out, thought her husband had won by a knockout. She shut off the radio and proceeded to celebrate the event. Elaborate plans were made for Jack's homecoming.

"Honey, it was remarkable," cooed Estelle as she draped herself about Jack's neck and impressed him after his victory over the former champion here today.

"What was remarkable, dear?" inquired Jack.

"Why, it was remarkable," Jack's head dropped on his chest. "Hell no, honey," he said. "I lost the fight on a decision, and I guess I'm through."

Gloom Hangs Over Bulldog Training Camp

Coaches Disappointed in Showing of Team Against Scrubs.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., September 28.—(Special.)—Displaying the poorest form of the year the Georgia Bulldogs went through a long, discouraging practice Wednesday afternoon.

The coaches evidenced much dissatisfaction at the showing made by the varsity.

The Virginia plays, used by the Red Sox for the week of time after time and the usual pep which has pervaded the Bulldog camp since their first workout seems to have departed.

Even the offensive play which showed so brilliantly Tuesday afternoon was dimmed both by the Freshmen and the Red Devils. Only an occasional good play by Buster Cook and Bobby Hooks saved the afternoon from complete failure.

Several players are on the injured list, among them being Roy Johnson, Frank Stewart and Harvey Hill, the first two guards and the latter as half-back. However, all three are expected to be sufficiently recovered by Saturday to see service in the battle with Virginia.

Unless a reversal of form is seen by the end of the week the Bulldogs are in a bad way for the Cavalier game. The defense seems to be giving more trouble than the offense.

The backs are not doing very well and the line puts up some good offensive play but their defense against Virginia running plays has been terrible.

The forward pass defense is giving little trouble.

HAWK-EYING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

A Football Suggestion.

These here football rules are entirely something else as the football season opens and the trials and tribulations of gridiron coaches and officials begin in earnest but we find here and there a coach who still wants a change made.

The latest agitator is Don Miller, one of the famous four horses who helped to write the name of Notre Dame across the football signboard in electric letters just a few years ago.

Don believes that the primary principle of the game is to win from your opponent. Quite a natural stand for any athlete to take. But unlike many coaches and players Don believes that the spectators, who pay millions each year to see the gridiron warriors war, should be considered in the making of rules.

Not so long ago you remember the day that the kickoff from the top of any fairly good booter went over the goal line and was brought out to the 20-yard line to be put into play. That took a bit of thrill from the game and so to cut down the distance of these kicks the rules committee abolished the use of a kicking tee made of dirt, which raised the ball to an easy kicking position, and ruled that all kickoffs should be made from the ground.

If you watch a lot of football this year you will notice that even the best of the kickers muss up a lot of the first boots because of this and the thrill of the returned kickoff is cut in half when it plops to one side and some lineman snatches it from the ground and is stopped immediately without any chance to run it back.

Now Don's idea is to revive the tee and do the kicking off from the 30-yard line rather than from the 40-yard marker. Through this change the old days of the pretty kick would be revived without the danger of the ball going over the goal line on every kickoff. The idea reeks of good logic.

Character Parts and Quick Changes.

The Atlanta Crackers have released many a good ball player in the past few years and any have they procured to keep, but three years ago they lost the Lon Chaney of the diamond when Mack Hillis went north.

According to a piece in "Time," this former Atlanta infielder and utility man set some kind of a record the other day with the New Haven club of the Eastern league.

Shortly after the game started Mack slipped from one position to the other and the fans were dizzy from that time forward trying to keep up with his itinerary.

At the end of the game Mack had played every position on the team and had accepted a chance at every position without an error. What does Lon Chaney know about character parts and quick changes?

Southeast Champs Trippe Defeats Charles Daniel Go 1-Up on Spins

Jacksonville, Fla., September 28.—(AP)—Jacksonville today for the first time assumed a lead in the series with Greenville, pennant winner in the South Atlantic league, by defeating the Spinnakers, 3 to 2. The count in games now stands the same as today's score with the possibility of the final battle being waged today.

Little World Series Is Halted by Rain

Toledo, Ohio, September 28.—(AP)—Rain forced postponement today of the inaugural game of the "little world's series" between the Toledo champions of the American association and the Buffalo pennant winners of the International league.

Twenty-one new members were admitted to the Gordon Street Baptist church in the revival service which closed off Wednesday night, and nine were baptized as a feature of the closing session by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor, who conducted the meeting.

Eight others will be baptized at the regular Sunday night service, Dr. Faust announced.

Stressing the importance of rapid and correct decisions, Dr. Faust declared Wednesday night that the service have been exceeding fruitful, and that "God has been gracious and has blessed Gordon Street church in addition to sending us 29 additional members."

POPE RECEIVES AMERICAN LEGION LEAGUE COUNCIL FINISHES LABORS

Rome, September 28.—(AP)—Rome extended open arms today to the 280 members of the American Legion headed by National Commander Howard P. Savage, who made the pilgrimage to the eternal city. The celebration of the legionnaires' visit took on various forms, in which the friendship of Italy for America was warmly demonstrated.

First came a solemn ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, to which the legionnaires marched through streets where the Stars and Stripes and the Italian tri-color lavishly were entwined. Detachments of infantry, cavalry, artillery, the aviation corps and naval men, with lines of fascist militiamen in their black shirts, flanked the Piazza Venezia, where the tomb stands. All around great crowds gathered, while those who had been Italian allies in the great war deposited a wreath as a tribute to the Italian dead.

The most picturesque reception of the day was at St. Peter's, where Pope Pius greeted the legionnaires, addressed them in his paternal manner and gave them his blessing. In the square were assembled another vast concourse, and in Clementine Hall, Swiss guards rendered homage to the American flag, which had been taken to the Vatican by the pope.

The pope then appeared clad all in white, welcomed the legionnaires, and later went around among them, each kissing his hand. His special benediction was addressed to Frank Schobel of Philadelphia, who, though blinded in the war, had joined his comrades in their good-will journey to Europe.

The day ended with a great reception in the capitol given by the governor of Rome, Prince Potenziani.

Lean Season Seen On Yale Gridiron

New Haven, Conn., September 28.—(AP)—Indication that Yale football is in for another lean season are disturbing followers of the Blue, as a squad with all too few veterans prepares to open its season Saturday against Bowdoin, playing here for the first time in 26 years.

Tad Jones, coaching his last Yale eleven, looks for no great difficulty with the Maine team. The showing of the tentative varsity against the scrubs to date, however, has not disclosed any indications of great strength to be drawn on when the team meets up with its stronger rivals later in the season.

In three scrimmages during the fortnight's pre-season practice the varsity combination each time put over three touchdowns, while holding the scrubs scoreless; but in this play bits of excellent work have been sandwiched between periods of discouragingly poor showing.

JORDON ON WAY TO CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, N. C., September 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Willis T. Jordan, of Columbus, Ga., is expected to testify against her husband, evangelist and Methodist minister, when he is brought to trial here on a bigamy charge. Information received here tonight indicated she not only is ready to present evidence against her husband, but is eager to be present.

The minister, in custody of Deputy Sheriff Avery B. Johnson, left Grand Rapids late today and is expected to reach Charlotte some time Friday. He was arrested in Grand Rapids after he had disappeared from Columbus about two weeks ago. Reports received here indicate he was preparing to marry Mrs. Ella Thomas, of that city.

The minister is wanted here to answer charges of marrying Mrs. Emma Landridge, of Washington, D. C., in this city on August 18, when he had another living wife, Magistrate J. Mack Alexander, before whom Jordan will be given a preliminary hearing when he is brought to trial here on a bigamy charge. Information received here tonight indicated she not only is ready to present evidence against her husband, but is eager to be present.

JORDON TO REACH CHARLOTTE FRIDAY

Grand Rapids, Mich., September 28.—(AP)—Officer from Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, arrived here today to take the Rev. Willis T. Jordan to Charlotte to face bigamy charges. The officers plan to return at once arriving in Charlotte early Friday.

While the preacher now denies he came to wed Mrs. Ella Thomas, after his disappearance from Columbus, Ga., two weeks ago, local police announced receipt today of letters from a Columbus detective agency, asserting that Jordan came here with his wife of $30 furnished through the mail by Mrs. Thomas.

The detective agency also forwarded copies of numerous love letters which it asserted Jordan had written to Mrs. Emma Landridge, one of the women he is alleged to have married.

Injured in Fight

Birmingham, Ala., September 28.—(AP)—Carl Norris is in a hospital suffering from a knife wound said to have been inflicted during a fight last night. Police are holding Martin Freeman on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Tituscut that this doubt about unanimity had prevented the United States from joining the court. But he held that the question of whether unanimity or a majority was necessary was too grave to decide hastily.

Bucs Hold 2-Game Lead With Two To Play

New York, September 28.—(AP)—Rain and an open date caused a pause in the National league pennant scramble today. The league-leading Pirates had a recess while the second-place Cardinals were rained out at Cincinnati, leaving a margin of two games separating the two front contenders. The Giants defeated the Phillies to gain half a contest.

The standing:

The Southeastern Passenger association, representative of all south-eastern railways, was asked Wednesday by the Florida travel bureau for special excursion rates into that state for the purpose of extending the Florida tourist season.

The request of the travel bureau asked "for a one-way rate plus 10 per cent," and said that this was asked in cooperation with a plan which "guarantees reasonable hotel accommodations and full cooperation on the part of the cities of Florida for entertainment of all visitors."

The request of the travel bureau was made known before the start of the meeting, which was an executive one. The entire purpose of the organization and establishment of the state of Florida travel bureau is to bring together in cooperative action the railroads, the hotels and the cities of the state in building up a pre-season and a post-season business which will utilize and make valuable the present wasted unoccupied hotel rooms and the empty seats and berths on railroad trains, the request of the bureau presented to W. H. Howard, chairman of the passenger association, read:

The travel bureau announced plans to sell "accommodation certificates" to tourists, which would enable them to secure many low rates, including those of hotel and amusement nature.

Governor Martin, of Florida, is president of the travel bureau, while many other state officials are members of its executive committee. Jerry W. Carter, state hotel commissioner, is vice president.

Mr. Howard said that presentation of the requests and all of its angles would be heard closely, but added that he could not say when a decision might be expected.

Robinson, president of the American Short Line Railway association; Ward G. Foster, head of the "Ask Mr. Foster" organization; H. E. ## THE GUMPS—OH WHERE, OH WHERE IS MY LITTLE DOG GONE?

They Wouldn't Believe

By ROY VICKERS.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Briery's house for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend Olive Weston that Donald stands a chance of inheriting a half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald, but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Briery of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear, whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting, Querk's father, Donald's father, presumed to have died when the Titanic sank, calls on Sandle. Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Briery to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's clerk, Wade, dispose of Briery.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house Mrs. Jones is out, but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and going to investigate she sees Sandle and another man kill Mr. Briery, whom she recognizes from her portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderer. Connie sees a policeman and calling him the three proceed to the library, and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the man place the body. It is empty. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene, and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive. She believes her story.

Querk requests Sandle to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi which the police officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office, where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they walk into the office, and Sandle and Querk leave by the back door.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones in his office. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle Jr. Querk later pretends that a criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private institution which he recommends.

he doesn't know. He will forget me when they are together."

Her eyes traveled idly over Connie's letter. "I had a good sleep last night."

"Why should she say that?" Olive wondered. "She had a restless night and talked much of her obsession—to herself and to the nurse. Why put in a little trimming about having a good night when she had in fact had a bad one? Or is it just a manner of speaking and means nothing?"

At three o'clock, as arranged, she telephoned the matron and inquired after Connie's progress.

"She slept fairly well," the matron told her, "and the doctor reports that she is recovering strength. But her nurse said she still tends to talk a good deal about her obsession."

Olive thanked the matron and replaced the receiver. She could not pass on the information to Donald because he was in court. It had been arranged that he should come to her as soon as the hearing was over.

He arrived at four o'clock.

"Hello—millionaire?" asked Olive.

"No. Not yet. What's the news? Mine will keep."

Olive repeated the matron's report and discussed it while she prepared afternoon tea. Not until they were sitting together over the teacups did Olive ask:

"How did you get on?"

"I had a weird experience," answered Donald, frowning. "The hearing, by the way, is adjourned until today week. That young fellow who put himself up as Turle's son had a pretty strong tale. Querk says it will all peter out and that Wade—the solicitor—is known to be a doubtful customer."

"Then why did they adjourn?" asked Olive.

"If he's only one of the crowd, I mean."

"This is where the odd part comes in," answered Donald. "His tale was that he had brought this father of his to London—and that four nights ago his father told him that he was going to see a gentleman on business. The young man—that is, Turle junior—was with his father at Trafalgar square about half past twelve when the old man left him and took a taxi. The old man has never returned."

Young Turle has been advertising in the Times and got no result. He has put an advertisement in the paper the taxi men all read which is only published today—and so the court has adjourned for a week to give him a chance to produce his father with the aid of the taxi man—if there ever was a taxi man and the taxi man comes forward."

"It sounds rather a weak tale," commented Olive. "What does he expect to gain by it?"

"The odd part is this. The day before yesterday, just as I was shaving, a taxi man rang at my door. He said he'd been waiting outside my house since 2 a. m. and that he'd brought an old man to see me. Of course, I told him that I had seen no old man, and the taxi man didn't seem to believe me and took himself off grumbling."

Olive laughed.

"It all fits in with magic millions!" she said. "Sorry to rag you, Don! Did you tell them that in court?"

"No. I was not called upon to give evidence."

"It's a bit irritating, of course!" said Olive, "but in the end it only means waiting another week. I suppose. Of course, the suspense must be a bit thick."

"It would be in the ordinary way," agreed Donald. "But all this upheaval, you know—it's rather taken my mind off it. What about my going down to see Connie?"

"I don't see why you shouldn't go tomorrow," said Olive. "But why not fit it on the phone? The number is written in blue pencil on the blotting pad."

"I don't see why you shouldn't go tomorrow," said Olive. "But why not fit it on the phone? The number is written in blue pencil on the blotting pad."

becoming rather uncertain of such a result owing to the bad weather of the past few days.

Some southern hedging was reported during the day, but in comparatively small volume, and there were a number of reports of a firm basis in the southern spot markets, which may have been due to the general buying of the Liverpool market and the fact that the Liverpool market was showing an inclination to buy advanced prices.

Exports today, 28,779, making 922,430 for the season. United States receipts 41,139. United States port stocks 1,704,475.

32 A BAILE JUMP FEATURE IN N. O.

New Orleans, September 28.—(AP)—An advance of approximately $3 a bale advanced the cotton market today when December, in the afternoon trading, jumped to 22.35, 81 points above the previous close.

The market opened irregular, 3 points up to 3 down, due mainly to lower cables. The improvement started soon after the opening and gained momentum when the weekly weather and crop report was construed as bullish. The weather map showed an abundance of rain in the western and central portions of the belt. Shorts covered and there was more or less trade buying. At the end of the first hour October had traded to 21.57 and December to 22.12 to 15 points above the initial low.

The advance held during the late morning trading, aided materially by the official forecast of more rain extending into the eastern belt. At mid-session October had sold up to 21.81 and December to 22.03.

At these levels the market encountered some realizing and prices eased off 6 to 9 points.

In the afternoon, however, all positions made new highs, with October at 22.05, December 22.29, and January at 22.35, 60 to 64 points up.

Noon weather advices showing additional rain in the central and western belt, and reports of continued urgent demand for spots at much higher prices, were responsible for the late advance. Profit taking in the late afternoon brought the market closed at 24 points below the peak, at approximately $1.25 a bale on late deliveries.

Exports for the day totaled 21,817 bales.

Southern selling and realizing attracted by the early advance was readily absorbed on comparatively slight reactions. The market continued through early afternoon, October selling up to 21.94 and March to 22.55, or 45 to 60 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

These prices seemed high enough to bring in more realizing, or perhaps a little southern hedging, and the close was 25 to 30 points off from the best on active positions.

A private report published before the opening pointed to a crop of 12,740,000 bales, in more or less the same proportion in the south; but not mentioned prominently in connection with the ruling of the market.

Part of the buying was attributed to covering on the part of speculators and interest who had sold recently on the belief that the better weather during the earlier part of September might add to the crop, and who are now becoming rather uncertain of such a result owing to the bad weather of the past few days.

Take Precautions Today And Thus Avoid Care Later

"An ounce of precaution is worth a pound of care."

Everybody recognizes the truth of that ancient saw—and yet so few gain from the warning it involves.

For instance: You know the peril of the traffic accident wave. You know that every day thousands of motorists are killed or maimed at any moment, whether you're a driver or a pedestrian, whether you live in city or town or country.

Are you protected against financial want? Is the future of your loved ones safeguarded? Are you insured against traffic accidents?

The Constitution offers you the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Insurance Company of Chicago. This solid, reliable concern already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

This policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain traffic accidents, or $10,000 for permanent injuries and $10,000 indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an on-rushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great offer. Watch for them. This $7,500 travel accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70, at $1.25 per year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for his paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through a postoffice or rural route delivery for one year, are eligible by paying for their paper per policy above the subscription price.

In sending applications for insurance the applicant must state name in full, age, sex and occupation and beneficiary in detail. No Christian name must be given and relation of same to the insured.

Washington, September 28.—(AP)—America's exports for the first six months of this year are the largest since 1921, according to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"In spite of a general decline in prices, $2,333,000,000 worth of American goods were sent abroad," the chamber reported.

This is an increase of 7.2 per cent over last year's exports for the same period of time. Not for six years has a half year's exports totaled more than one billion dollars.

The chief gains were made in grains, fruits, textiles, chemicals, machinery, vehicles, lumber and sawmill products. Exports of meat, land and petroleum products fell off.

The foreign demand for American cotton goods was 1.6 per cent in years. Nearly 3,250,000 yards of goods were shipped in 1926 figures—were purchased two per cent more motor vehicles.

New York, September 28.—Recent advances in coffee futures were followed by reactions today realizing and a little selling, probably due to the somewhat sharp showing of Rio. The market opened 12 points higher to points lower, after a close of 21.75.
